1	Quality maintained in the services provided to the learners	The dimensions of quality covered are academic and evaluation process, curriculum, instructional design, faculty, ICT and infrastructural resources. The curriculum was revised incorporating contemporary industry requirements, competencies and skills prior to the commencement of the program. SLMs were updated as per policy document of the University provisions stipulated as per UGC [ODL] regulations 2020. The quality in teaching - learning process is enhanced by focussing on knowledge transfer through multiple interactive platforms, optimal access to teaching-learning resources, instructional materials, improved self-learning material (SLM), multi device access to LMS - learning management system (LMS) for student progression. The academic counselling, personal contact programs and doubt clearance sessions, discussions were conducted online to ensure the learning experience is at par with conventional mode.	https://drive.google.com/file/d/1VuEvAPstqi2FJS67coPUodobNsj7X32H/view?usp=share_link
2	Self-evaluative and reflective exercises undertaken for continual quality improvement in all the systems and processes of the Higher Educational Institution	Constant observation and review of the academic, administrative and evaluation process give the inputs for quality improvements. - The continual self-reflective exercise has facilitated the improvement in enabling learning through multi-device access to learning materials, enabling new features in LMS such as discussion forum and live chat forum. access to live counselling and PCP sessions, and use of Self Learning Material through both synchronous and asynchronous mode aiding in the ease and progression of learners. - The academic and administrative process review was undertaken to ensure comprehensive review of curriculum, instructional material and learning resources and SLM - Objective review of examination, tools for continuous assessment prior to the commencement of every semester to ensure maintenance of academic integrity of the academic system and improved learning aligned with learners. - Administration of refund process and adequacy of academic counsellors etc.	https://drive.google.com/file/d/1J0NcS18IBhNkO6-gg2FbNEOjTQEGmTnA/view?usp=share_link https://drive.google.com/file/d/1QVdTYPouZGnuBkr1qyJmd335WeRZmtZ/view?usp=share_link

3	Contribution in the identification of the key areas in which Higher Educational Institution should maintain quality	The centre was duly advised by the University on quality norms relating to curriculum and pedagogy, credit structure and learning hours, learning based study materials and recorded lectures and quality standards of audio-video material. The directives have ensured that the quality-of-service offerings of ODL, the functioning, systems, structure and process compliant to the mandate prescribed by the University and regulations. The key areas identified where the quality are maintained: • Quality standards pertaining to curriculum and pedagogy, LMS, instructional and self-learning material, teaching-learning process and student progression. The curriculum encompassing knowledge components, and Practical and skill components, Mechanism of curriculum delivery, platform for interaction and guidance to learners, and access to learning resources • Learning and learner progression: Monitoring of learning, enabling formative assessment through self-evaluation and practice exercises and communication of learners' performance, observations of academic counsellors and progression in each course and semester was based on learner centric approach • Proactive learner engagement through responsive and proactive support to learners, viz, academics, assignments, examinations and general inquiry. Integrity and due diligence in all aspects of summative assessment such as coverage of the entire curriculum of the course, proctoring, integrity and transparency in evaluation, reporting mechanisms and announcement of results.	https://drive.google.com/file/d/1rdGk7q4WRoNXhIx-8L_NYxqON8Kofgzp/view?usp=share_link
4	Mechanism devised to ensure that the quality of Open and Distance Learning programmes matches with the quality of relevant programmes in conventional mode (For Dual Mode HEIs)	The programs objectives and outcomes, course matrix of each of the programs are aligned with those offered in the regular mode. CDEVL aligning with the philosophy of the University has Learner first and learner always as an approach for the teaching - learning process. The key components of the mechanism for ensuring quality of ODL programmes matched with quality of programmes in the conventional mode are: • The Curriculum is developed in par with the programmes offered in conventional with moderation befitting the needs of the distance learners embedding transferable skills for better employability. • Providing academic flexibility through CBCS- Choice based credit system where the students get to choose specific choice courses • High quality of instructional materials and the content for self-learning material developed to lead the learner through key knowledge components while	https://drive.google.com/file/d/1AmrjZSxe4eEpk-cNdBoFDLXxkVkn9-nO/view?usp=share_link embedding of Self-assessment questions, glossary of key terms and references to augment the learning through the SLM • Qualified faculty, having expertise in their respective domains, the requisite technical knowledge and skill sets for development of program and instructional materials • Online assessment system with good quality questions that are based on all cognitive levels Bloom's Taxonomy enabling progression in learning through formative assessment which strengthens comprehension of subject matter and facilitates progression in learning. The formative assessment leverages the progression with feedback given to the learner. • Conduct of Academic counselling and Personal Contact Programs (PCP) sessions to provide in-depth knowledge in respective courses, clarification of doubts, and provide an interface to facilitate the learning experience. • Conduct of practical lab sessions for courses having practical components, counselling sessions for discussing field trips, synopsis and dissertation writing.

5	Mechanisms devised for interaction with and obtaining feedback from all stakeholders namely, learners, teachers, staff, parents, society, employers, and Government for quality improvement.	Feedback from all stakeholders is collected from students through the learning management system on a regular and routine basis on the course, faculty and PCP session. The learners' feedback is obtained in anonymous mode w.r.t: Course Feedback, Faculty feedback and feedback on personal contact programs. Academic peers and subject matter experts also provide valuable feedback for improvement of the instructional materials, self-learning materials, teaching learning process and evaluation for improvement in service quality and better learner engagement. The feedback is shared with the concerned faculty for making suitable changes and improvement in content and delivery. Faculty and staff provide feedback based on interaction and queries raised by the learners and the same is factored in curriculum development, course content and teaching learning process. Other stakeholders provide feedback during specific interactions, events and such other opportunities as may arise from time to time. Due consideration is given to the same for suitable action.	https://drive.google.com/file/d/1Aa94SJUbdePvgaoGS4hd6rryNJPqF2Hr/view?usp=share_link

15	Facilitated system based research on ways of creating learner centric environment and to bring about qualitative change in the entire system.	Access to learning resources and instructional materials to distance learners through multiple devices and channels of communication have enhanced the learning environment. The measure has facilitated faculty qualitatively utilising the time in counselling sessions and personal contact programs. The learners can perform all learning and academic activities through their Computers and through an app on their mobile devices. The learners are now able to access all the contents, notifications, learning materials and also attend the counselling and personal contact programs, completion of assignments and other curricular and co-curricular activities. The initiatives have instilled a learner centric environment which has also ensured faster and timely response to questions and queries raised by learners.	NA
16	Steps taken as a nodal coordinating unit for seeking assessment and accreditation from a designated body for accreditation such as NAAC etc.	The collation and compilation of data is an ongoing process duly monitored by the IQAC committee. The nodal coordinating unit takes the following measures to pursue evaluation and accreditation from a specified organisation such as the National Assessment and Accreditation Council (NAAC): • Understand the accreditation process: The CIQA coordinator will acquaint the faculty members with the assessment criteria, standards, and guidelines established by the accreditation body. This will assist them in getting ready for the evaluation and accreditation process. • Accreditation committee: Form a committee comprising of faculty members, students, and other stakeholders. The committee will coordinate with all the departments and collect the necessary information for due process of accreditation. • Self-assessment: Conduct a self-assessment of the institution based on the assessment criteria provided by the accreditation body. This will help identify the strengths and weaknesses of the institution and help in preparing for the assessment. • Preparing for the assessment: Providing data for AQAR metrics related to Open and Distance Learning (ODL). Documenting information year wise which is important to prepare for the assessment. Overall, seeking assessment and accreditation from a designated body like NAAC is a comprehensive process that requires significant preparation, documentation, and commitment from the institution. 17	Measures adopted to ensure internalisation and institutionalisation of quality enhancement practices through periodic accreditation and audit	Periodic assessment is an effective measure that is adopted to ensure the institutionalisation of quality enhancement practices. Here are some of the steps that is taken into to achieve this: • Development of Quality Assurance Framework: For ensuring institutionalisation of quality enhancement practices, CIQA is established to develop a quality assurance framework that outlines the key principles and practices. • Develop a Quality Enhancement Plan: Plan developed which focuses on the unique aspects of ODL programmes, such as learner support services, online teaching methodologies, and technology infrastructure. It outlines the objectives, strategies, and activities that are undertaken to improve the quality of the programmes. • Conduct Regular Quality Reviews: Regular quality reviews are conducted to identify areas for improvement in ODL programmes. The reviews cover all aspects of the programme, including curriculum, learner support services, and technology infrastructure. The reviews are conducted by internal and external experts. • Evaluate Learner Outcomes: Periodic evaluation of learner outcomes. This is done through online assessments, learner surveys, and feedback mechanisms. The evaluation is used to improve the quality of the programme and ensure that learners are achieving the desired learning outcomes. • Encourage Faculty Development: Faculty members are trained in online teaching methods, learner support services, designing and developing effective SLMs and technology infrastructure. The institution regularly organises conferences, workshops, and guest lectures to keep faculty and students updated on the latest trends. • Implementation of Action Plans: The institution has developed action plans based on the results of the self-assessment and external assessments to address any weaknesses or deficiencies identified. The action plans are implemented in a timely manner and monitored regularly to ensure their effectiveness. • Regular evaluation of SLMs: The SLMs are accessible to all learners which involve providing materials in multiple formats, such as text, audio, and video, and ensuring that the materials are designed in a way that accommodates different learning styles. SLMs are periodically reviewed based on the feedback provided, and ensured that the revised materials meet the established quality standards.	NA

Part – X: Innovative and Best Practices

10.1. Innovations introduced during academic year

The global crisis has necessitated every sector to shift its operations to online thus providing an opportunity to initiate a 24x7 learning environment. In this view, the Centre has enabled student learning through the use of digital technologies by making the digital content accessed by the students from remote locations. The Center for Distance Education and Virtual Learning (CDEVL) has continuously striven to introduce new initiatives to support academic learning among the students.

The new initiatives include

- Online Self Learning Material
- Audio and Video Content
- Digital content
- Technology enabled learning
- Email support

The above services were introduced to make the learning easy for distance learners.

10.2. Best Practices of the HEI

With a view to improve the quality of the HEI, the following practices have been initiated.

1. Ensuring quality through the development of TLEP with a special emphasis on four-quadrant approach.
2. To enhance student learning, SLMs are supplemented by the digital content, audio and video material which can be made accessible to the students of open and distance learning.
3. To provide real time experience to the students, the case study approach has been in practice across the programmes offered.
4. Learners are encouraged to undertake internships electronically from the industries as a part of student dissertations.
5. The questions for formative and summative assessment have been developed by aligning the cognition levels of the learners using Bloom's taxonomy.

In addition, the contents were reviewed and redesigned course wise providing complete course description with an overview of units along with the objectives, activities, assignments and additional resources. The contents were revamped so as to provide opportunities for learners to engage in higher- order thinking, critical-reasoning activities and thinking in increasingly complex ways and to provide an environment for practice, at the learner's own pace and in his/her own time. The contents were reorganized keeping in mind the learning outcome based curriculum framework (LOCF). The learning outcomes were identified from all cognition levels of Bloom's Taxonomy for each unit in every module and have designed appropriate learning experiences corresponding to each learning outcome in order to achieve the desired learning outcomes. The contents were restructured to facilitate involvement of learners actively through various experience based activities and to encourage learner to apply new knowledge and skills.
